Not only has the Class of 1945 used this annual to show the year's activities and advancements, but also to portray the American way of life and the achievements of the free.

foreword

We dedicate this 1945 Hiltop
to our friend and former teacher
Private Louis E. Rademacher

Campus

Trees sharply etched against the bleak winter sky . . . . Forty lights revealing sparkles in snow . . . .

Rolling hills carpeted with heavy green grass . . . . campus sporting its finest green finery . . . .

Gentle laziness drifting in the air . . . . taffeta murmur of the trees . . . . famous weeping willow . . . . trees turning from etchings into water colors . . . .

Beautiful

Bathed in sun and shadow . . . .
tree lipsticked with autumn . . . .
rag bags of color

Composite, modernistic, architectural dream . . . .

Smooth, graceful . . . .
sun slanting its rays against the west facade . . . .

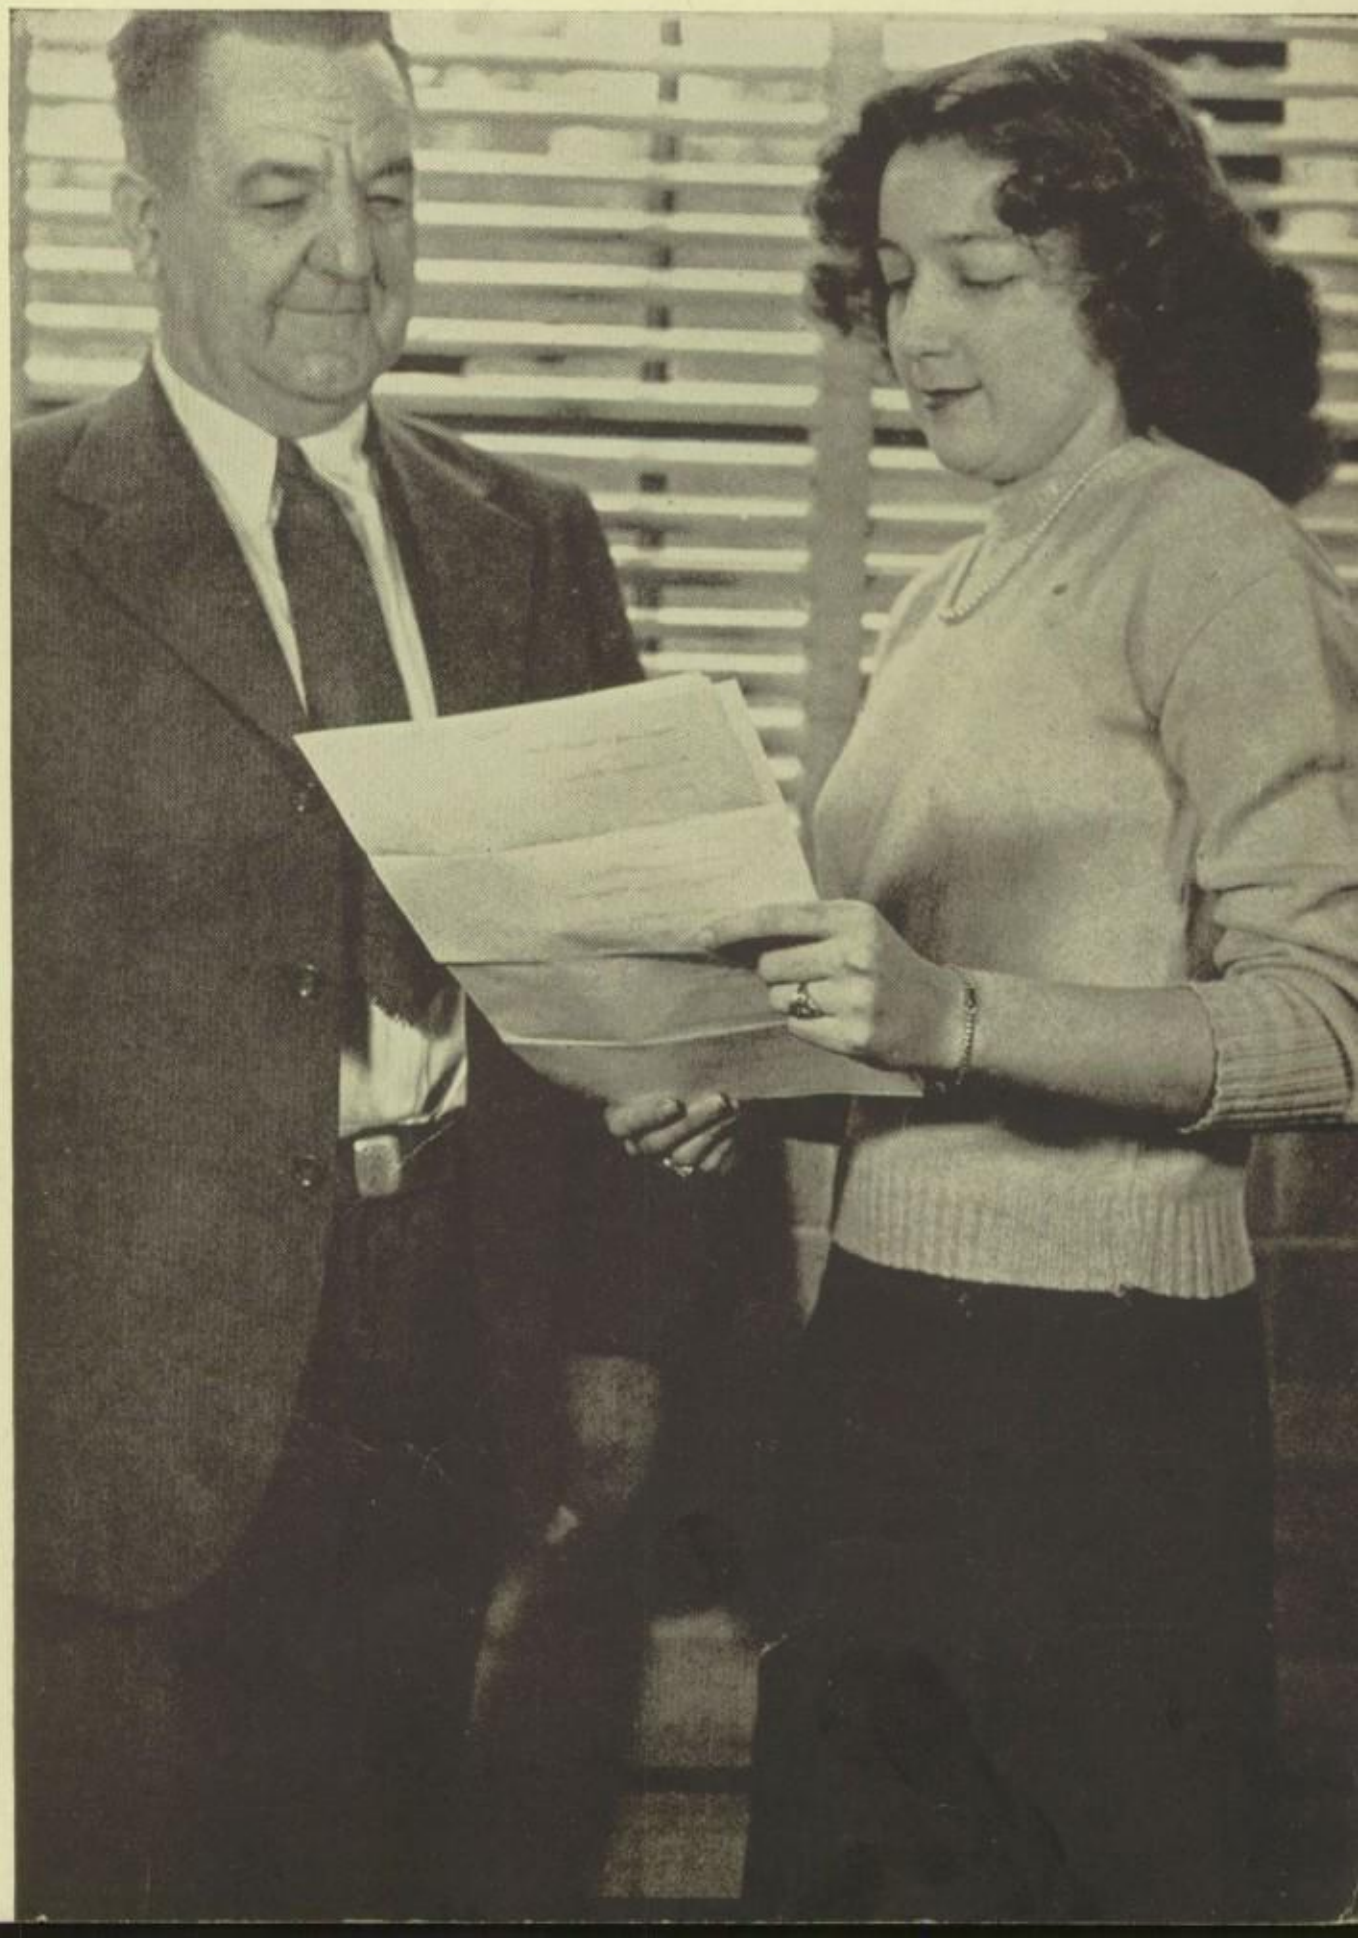
ADMINISTRATION



Anthony Schindler

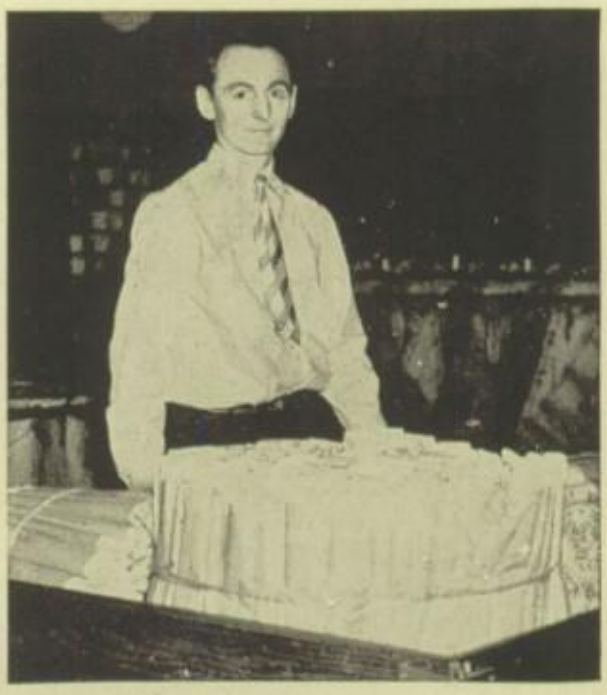
The man who keeps the wheels of our school running smoothly is the president, Mr. Schindler. He has a daughter in our midst and is well acquainted with the problems of the school and therefore generously and willingly devotes much of his time to them. He also has a son and daughter who are graduates of H.C.H.S.

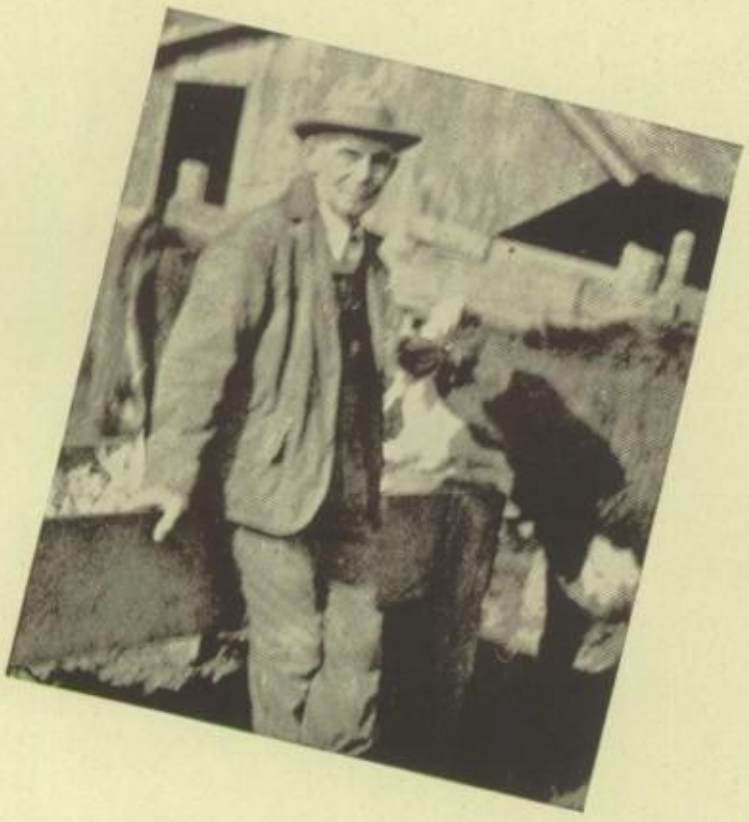
G. T. Anderson

G. T. Anderson, who is just beginning his fourth year on the school board, is a very active and interested member. Through his son, he has kept in close contact with the needs and wishes of the school. A very civic minded citizen, Mr. Anderson is president of the Sportsmans Club and a member of both the Kiwanis Club and the Hillsboro Commercial Association.

Orville Pierson

Mr. Pierson was elected as a member of the board for the term '43-'45. As a clerk in the Hillsboro Post Office, a position he has held for five years, he is doing his share for the war effort. He always greets you with a friendly "Hello, there!" His son is in the army and his daughter graduates with the class of 1945.





Charles Attebery

Mr. Charles Attebery has had many years of experience as a member of the board of education, as he has been a member of District 157 since its beginning. He has two sons and a daughter; his daughter is teaching Home Economics in our school. His oldest son is in the army; the other, a member of the grade schools.

James Cress

Mr. James Cress, who has been a prominent member of our board for several years, has two sons, Lt. (j.g.) James Cress, and Lt. Bob Cress, both former students of H.C.H.S, who have seen active service abroad. His two daughters, Marion and Louise, are both married; their husbands also being in the service. Mr. Cress has served as secretary of the board for many years.

Girhard, Pierson, Cress, Schindler, Attebery, Anderson

English

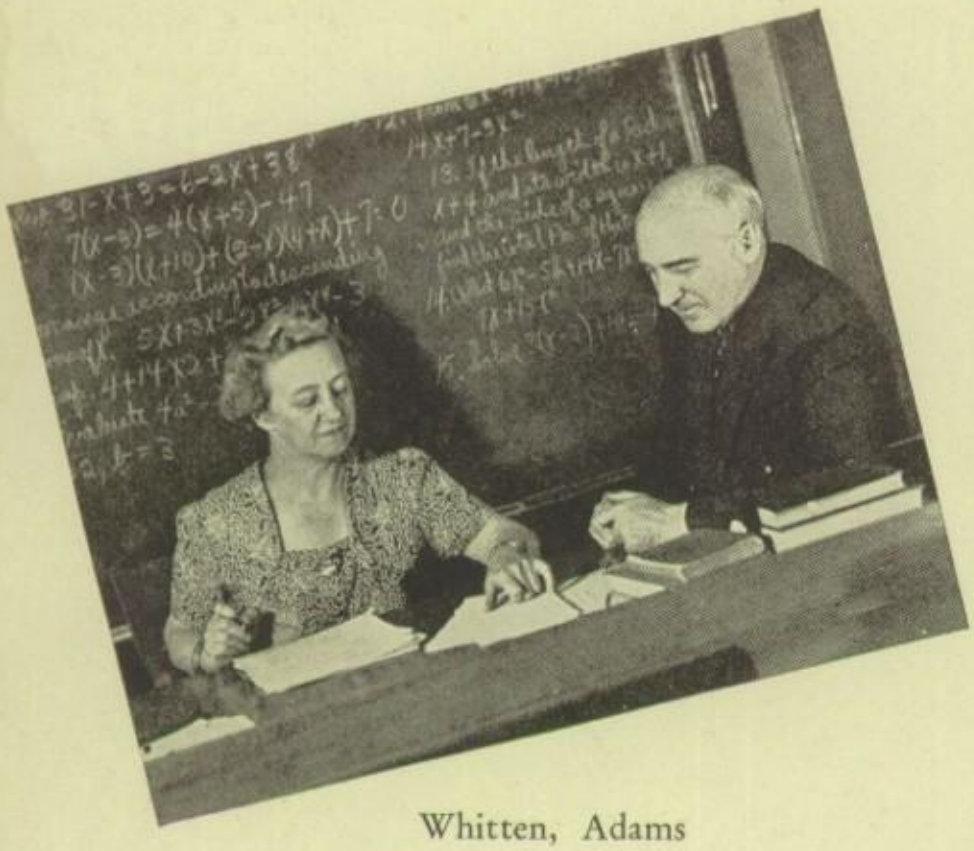
Busy is the word for her, teaching English I, advising freshmen, and directing the noisy Freshman-Sophomore Girls' Chorus—that's Miss Beckemeyer.

The sophomore boys all swooned when they saw their new English teacher, Miss Lemons. She is shy, yet very capable.

Miss Bennett, a versatile teacher, knows her speech as well as English III, and what would the library be without her?

Miss Manning gives to the juniors and seniors a keen knowledge of English, and her senior class play is always a hit.

Beckemeyer, Lemons, Manning
Bennett



Whitten, Adams

Mathematics

Teaching plane and solid geometry, aeronautics, trigonometry, being Hiltop advisor, assistant principal, and school treasurer, Mr. Adams couldn't be guilty of loafing even if he wanted to. His students think a lot of him because he still remembers when he was a boy.

Having taught in England for one year and having toured much of the continent of Europe, Miss Whitten has many intreesting stories to tell. Besides teaching elementary and advanced algebra, she is also dean of girls.

Languages

The efficient Mrs. Wingler certainly can teach the freshmen something new and different—Latin. She also has a second year class. Plus these, she takes charge of the Girls' Physical Education classes and first hour study hall.

To replace German, a new and more popular language, Spanish, has been added to our curriculum this year. Mrs. McCall, who has studied extensively and taught a number of years elsewhere, makes a very competent teacher.

Wingler, McCall

History and Civics

Little Miss Horner sits in her corner—and gives forth voluminous epics in American history. Not only history of the past, but also the present and future. Mighty discussions take place in her classes. Students look forward to the days when they can participate in some of these royal discussions. Her civics class isn't left out either. Keeping busy isn't difficult for Miss Horner because, besides these classes, she directs Junior-Senior Chorus on Monday. To keep those noisy girls quiet is quite an undertaking in itself. Then, too, she always has charge of the operetta in the spring of the year.

"Class, I do wish you would learn the difference between Louis XIV and Magellan. I've explained them over and over, but listen again." Sounds familiar, doesn't it? Mrs. McCall has taken over the modern, medieval, and ancient history classes this year. Her history classes are quite large and they get a little wild at times, but she manages them somehow. Don't ask us how, though!

Industrial Arts

As we enter the class of industrial arts, we hear the familiar voice of Mr. Mey replying, "Get back to your benches, and let's have it a little more quiet in here." Mr Mey, the first to teach the skill of mechanical drawing and carpentry in our community high school, has added his knowledge to the faculty for four consecutive years. He attended Millikin University at Decatur for five years where he obtained his B.S. degree. After leaving college, he obtained a job as an instructor of industrial arts in a high school in West Virginia. He took the job here as instructor of wood mechanics in 1941. Mr. Mey instructs his first year students to draw and read blue prints for the first semester; the second semester they start learning the trade of wood work. His second year students work on more skilled woodwork. Besides instructing classes, Mr. Mey contributes his skill to the high school by making many handy articles for general use in the school. His hobby is making violins, and he has been very successful in this. His first violin was displayed at the Chicago World's Fair. He has made two bass violins, one of which is in Paul Whiteman's orchestra, the other in Benny Goodman's orchestra.

Lenich, Athey, Horner

Mey

Spotti, Kilpatrick, Edwards

Commerce

Commercial geography and arithmetic are semester subjects taught by Mr. Urbanscek. "Having lived on a shoestring so long, I think I am well qualified to teach commercial arithmetic," quips Urbanscek. He gives frequent ten minute tests to awake the nappers.

Mrs. Spotti is a newcomer this year, teaching bookkeeping and typing I. Listening to the chat-chat of the bookkeeping and the pick-peck of the would-be typists is enough to try anyones nerves, but Mrs. Spotti takes it all in her stride.

The first year shorthand class frequently hears Miss Edwards expostulating, "How did you get to be juniors?" In teaching the shorthand classes, typing II, and transcription, her pupils admit "she knows her stuff!"

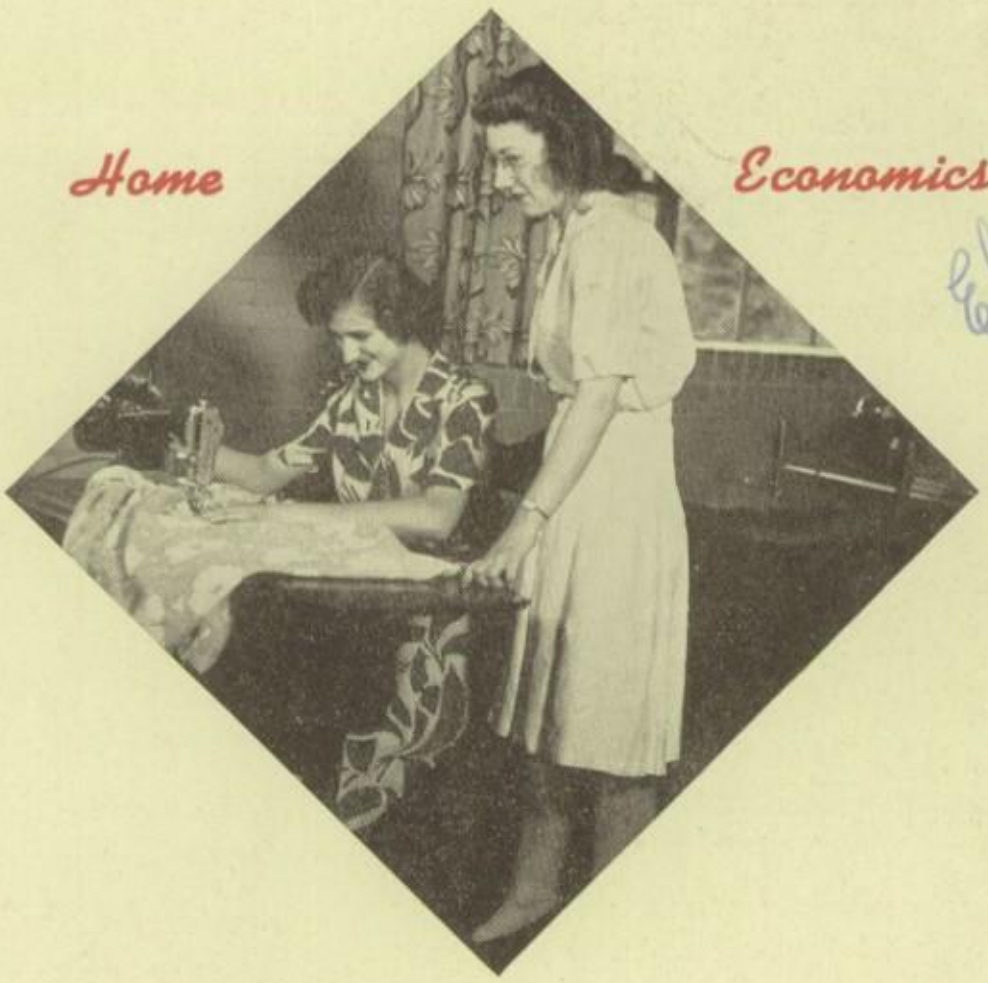
Mrs. Kilpatrick, who taught here before her marriage, is "helping out" again this time as a substitute bookkeeping teacher. She is understanding and helpful to her students. We say, "Bring on more substitutes like Mrs. Kilpatrick!"

Agriculture

Orland

For the eighteenth consecutive year, we are glad to have Mr. Orland as our instructor of agriculture. Because of his impressive ways of teaching, Mr. Orland is well-liked by all his students. He attended the University of Illinois for four years where he attained his B.S. degree. Before coming here, he taught agriculture in Assumption, Illinois, and, believe it or not, his hobby is farming! He teaches his first year students the turning of soil and the planting of crops. The pupils who take agriculture the second year learn the knowledge of animal husbandry. The third year is spent in learning about the kinds of trees and knowing different parts of farm machinery. We think Mr. Orland has proved he is a very capable instructor.

Home Economics



Elizabeth Ann Attebery

Warden and Attebery

Graduating from Millikin University at Decatur in June with a B.S. degree, Miss Attebery is very up-to-date with her teaching. Since she is so tiny in stature, it is necessary to take a second glance to tell whether she is student or teacher. The girls in the sewing classes are often asked, "Are you sure your bobbins are in right?" or "Please, no chewing gum." There are about seventy girls taking the home economics course this year. This is the largest class we have had for several years. Skirts and blouses were made early in the fall, and they had to have an outside project completed before Christmas. As the young seamstresses progressed into the second semester they each made a dress and presented a style show for the Woman's Club and P.T.A. The cooking class canned a variety of fruits and vegetables at the beginning of school. As the girls learn to serve as well as cook, they assist Miss Reed in the cafeteria at the noon hour which is useful experience for them as well as being helpful to her. The different classes entertain each other and they also invite outside guests. The girls helped serve at the Farm Bureau Banquet, at the Country Club, and at several other occasions. Besides being advisor of Home Economics Club, Miss Attebery is also Junior Sponsor.

Fearheiley

General Science

Between the two of them, Mr. Urbanscek and Mr. Fearheiley do a superb job of teaching the freshmen their science. And since the course is required, they consider themselves lucky to have such teachers. In Mr. Urbanscek's class, it seems, there is always something cooking. His timely wisecracks keep the class in a jovial, friendly mood. Students look forward to the days on which they have lab, thus getting a chance to fill in their slightly "behind-the-date" notebooks.

Whereas in Coach Fearheiley's class, the students resemble a lot of mice because they are always (?) so quiet, except, of course, when his presence is required at games, and then a rare old time is had by all. Coach Fearheiley keeps his class scratching at their heads by his frequent tests.

Lab experiments relieve the monotony of the regular class periods. Between the two of them, the freshmen should find themselves knowing a little more than "something" at the end of the term.

Sciences

of great importance always . . . .
whether in war or peace . . . .

Biology

There are two classes of biology, one under Mr. Urbanscek and one under Mr. Cox. To the students, the amazing revelations in biology become more complicated. For instance, do you know why plants turn their faces toward the sun and students turn theirs toward the clock? Mr. Urbanscek shows his sincere interest in the subject by doing experiments in his home which correspond to the current ones in the class.

Perhaps the most harried teacher in H.C. H.S. is Mr. Cox. Hurrying back from the bedlam of band the first hour, he delves into his first class of biology the third hour. Mr. Cox is teaching biology for the third year. This was his major in college.

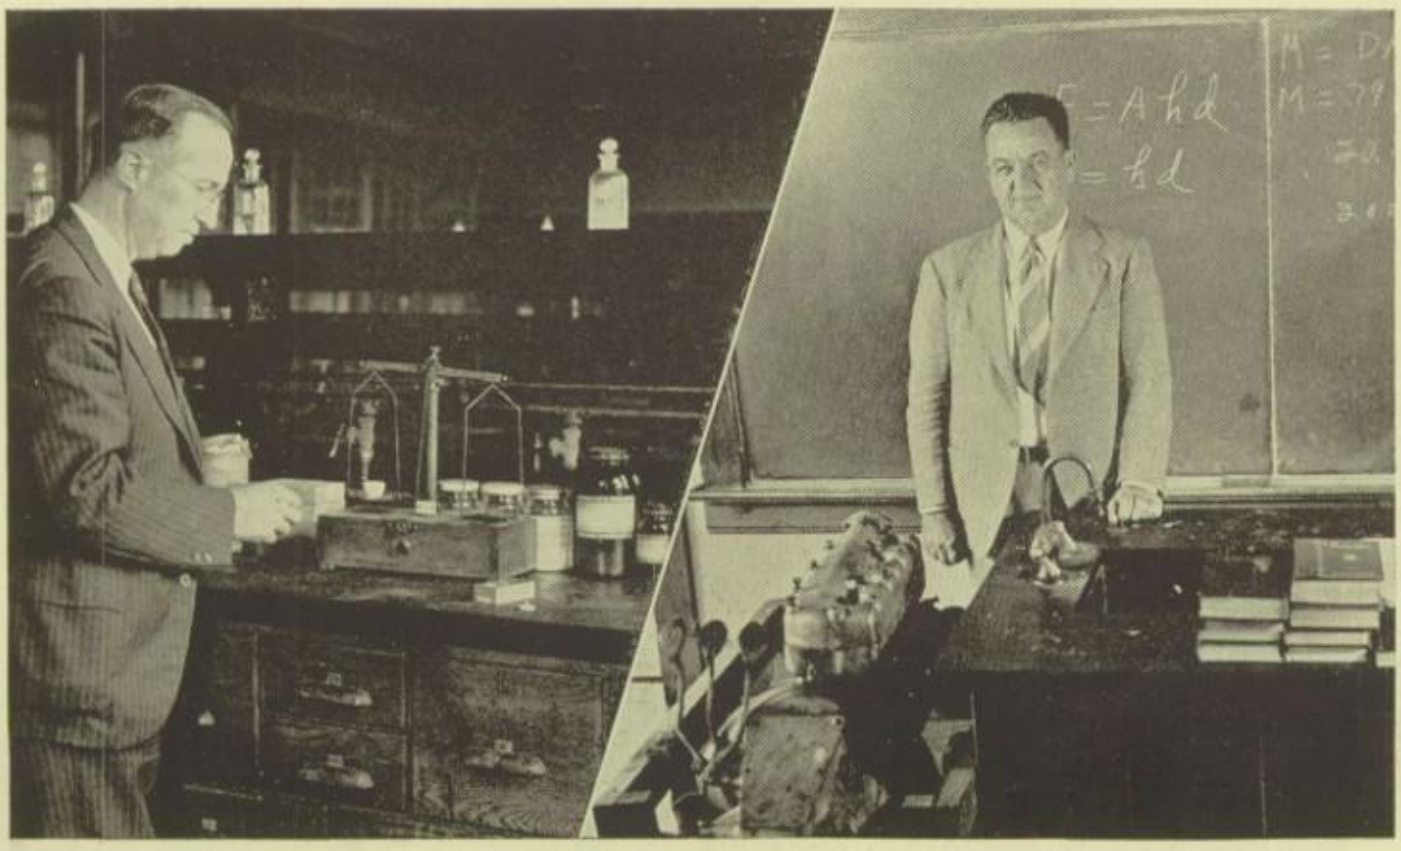
Urbanscek

Physics

Did you ever hear so much noise? Where does it come from? Why, the physics class, of course. They have a jolly time up there. For a while, that is. Suddenly and mysteriously, the laughter and chatter stop. But we all know why. Mr. Girhard has just stepped in. Usually, Mr. Girhard is heard before he gets there since he carries a great bunch of keys on one key ring. Sometimes, tho, the noise they make is deafening even to themselves. So when Mr. Girhard steps thru the door, startled students gap, "Yipes, I didn't hear him, did you?" With all he has to do, we wonder how Mr. Girhard manages to meet two classes of physics each day, with lab twice a week. Often, he livens the class up with a peppy, humorous story of some of his adventures, or misadventures. He served in the Navy in World War I for two years and many are the tales that he can relate to the class (and generally they're connected in some way with physics.)

Chemistry

Crash, clatter, tinkle! You're right, another test tube gone. Quietly Mr. Cox replaces it. The odors floating through the halls can without a doubt be blamed on the amateur laboratory technicians in chemistry lab. Rotten eggs, sulphur, and other such smells are their specialty. Crash! "Now, if you people aren't more careful, we'll have to begin charging you for the things you break," warns Mr. Cox. "That might be rather expensive," we think. (Did we say rather). Two days out of the week the class has lab and the other three are spent in the lecture room. The lecture room isn't really as bad as it sounds. With Mr. Cox as head man, we're just like one big family. You know how families are. "Darn it! Give me back my book!" "Did you pull my chair out from under me?" We wonder why Mr. Cox doesn't have a nervous breakdown!

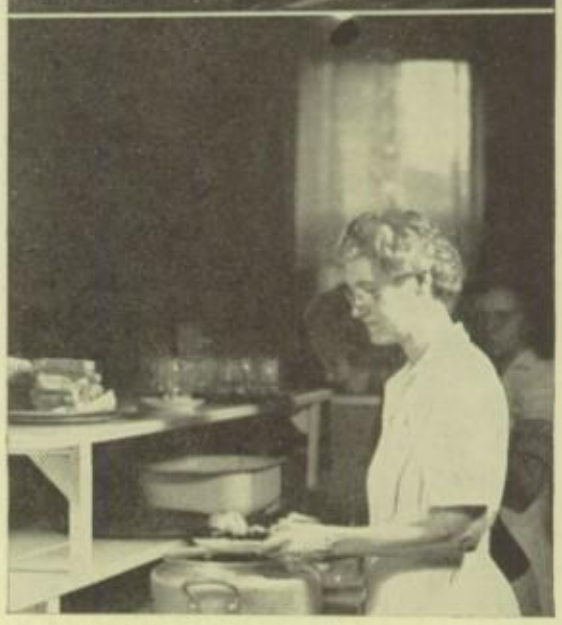


Cox Girhard

Titsworth
Reed

Have you seen our secretary?
She's the livest of our crew.
How can she be so merry
When she has so much to do?

Her time is filled completely,
She never thinks of rest,
And yet she smiles so sweetly
And has no end of zest.



Here's a person we all owe
A debt of gratitude.
She keeps the cafeteria clean,
And dishes out the food.

Paton
Hughes
Gilmore

Who keeps our school so nice and neat?
Who makes it look so clean?
Who sweeps the floors and does the chores,
ask all the freshmen green.
Who mows the lawn, rakes leaves in fall?
Again I ask, "Who does it all?"

Why, it's the jolly trio that works the live long day.
Just to make things pleasanter for us to work and play.
Who is the fellow standing there?
With streaks of silver in his hair.
Working, working all the while,
Never too busy to crack a smile.
He'll help you if you need him when you're in a little jam.

His name is Mr. Paton,
Better known as Sam.
He has two other helpers
To do this work you see.
For all the work that must be done
Is quite enough for three.
Mr. Gilmore, too, a Scotchman,
Talks a Scotish sort of way.
You can ask the kids around you
And they'll tell you he's okay.
And if you want to meet a fellow
That really fills his shoes,
I know just that fellow,
His name is Mr. Hughes.

The Seniors

At last we've finally reached a goal
That we set out to find.
Four long years of fun and struggle
To accomplish this on time.

We started out as Freshmen,
Open-mouthed and goggle-eyed.
We stood in awe of the Seniors
'Cause they were (supposed to be) dignified.

Our Sophomore year was not so timid,
For we had found our place.
Our class abounded in the greatest talent,
And, thus, we set our pace.

The next thing we knew we were Juniors,
And we were proud to know
That now we were "upperclassmen"
The group we admired not long ago.

Now we are the leaders,
The Seniors, as we're called,
Our class is sure to be the best.
Is anyone appalled?

Though we now bid our adieux,
Fond memories will not fade,
Of H.C.H.S., our home of friends,
"Happy landing, Senior brigade!"

BILL SETTLE
With presidential dignity and a nice disposition,
Bill's an ace; that's a fact, not a supposition.

JAMES PHIPPS
I could be good, but then Oh! Gee!
It's much more fun not to be.

BETTY ZELLER
Our secretary, and a good one too,
We seldom see her with nothing to do.

TED ANDERSON
The lad is a radio fiend,
Know of a better beam?

NORMA ASHMORE
She's an agent of Mirth itself;
Around her sober feelings are put on the shelf.

ALLEGRETHA BEASLEY
Cheerful and gay throughout the day
She goes on her untroubled way.

GEORGE BARHAM
No sinner and no saint perhaps,
But well, the very best of chaps.

ELAINE ATHEY
Most blondes are dizzy, they say,
But Elaine's not that way.

His actions must be heard.

BILL BOTKIN
Of all sad words of mouth or pen
The saddest of all are, "He flunked again."

CECIL BOURLAND
He in school seems very quiet,
But a good sport, you can't deny it.

REX BRAMEL
He's all sail and no anchor,
But toward fellow men holds no rancor.

ELEANOR BROWN
Full of fun with always a smile,
But really she's serious—once in a while.

ORVILLE BROWN
For fun and frolic "Bombo's" sure to be there
On his shoulders rest no care.

RESIERI BUTTOL
Why should I worry and grow old
When a smile does as much good, I'm told.

Carefree, merry, full of jest,
Happiness at its highest crest.

JIM CORBIN
Jim is our high school crooner,
To fame he'll soar is the rumor.

HELEN COLE
Plenty of personality has this Cole,
Whatever she attempts she'll reach her goal.

MATILDA CODEMO
"Tillie's" a little rascal, may we say,
But lots of fun and very gay.

ELEANOR CARRIKER
She's a "hustler" for getting work in on time,
A nicer girl we're sure you can't find.

NORMA CHILDS
Although she is quiet and shy,
She never lets chances go by.

A queen of hearts she's sure to be.

JEAN DORSEY
She's a girl that's really "neat,"
In more ways than one, she can't be beat.

JOHN DROSTE
He knows the answer to many a "know-how"
In math and science, he's really a wow.

HOMER EDDINGTON
If you want a friend, really sincere,
We earnestly prescribe this fellow here.

VIRGINIA EDDINGTON
Specializing in all that's nice,
She'd be a bargain at the highest price.

CHARLOTTE EDWARDS
Charlotte has a way all her own,
Around school she's very well known.

MARY EDWARDS
Full of pep and gay as a lark,
Her infectious laughter creates a spark.

A wild breeze comes rushing through.
Well, Zeke, if it isn't you!

DONALD FUNDERBURK
Not to go back is sometimes to advance,
And men must walk, at least, before they dance.

ANTHONY FRKOVICH
Both brain and brawn does he possess,
In dancing he's one of the best.

DORIS FRAME
Packed with humor with no room for more,
This girl is one who is never a bore.

BOB FINLEY
Not knowing that already he is loved by all,
He studies continually (?) in study hall.

HERSCHEL ELAM
Friendly and jovial, is our "Hersh,"
He's swell (and quite a flirt!)

If you want to laugh, she's got the pun.

JUANITA KNAG
A likeable miss in every way;
Always the same from day to day.

MARY KESSINGER
A cute little number, we all agree,
She can read anything from A to Z.

MADALYN KESSINGER
Beneath a rather serious exterior,
There is a most light hearted interior.

JUDY JOHNSON
A splendid girl with lots of zeal,
Around her, you laugh a great deal.

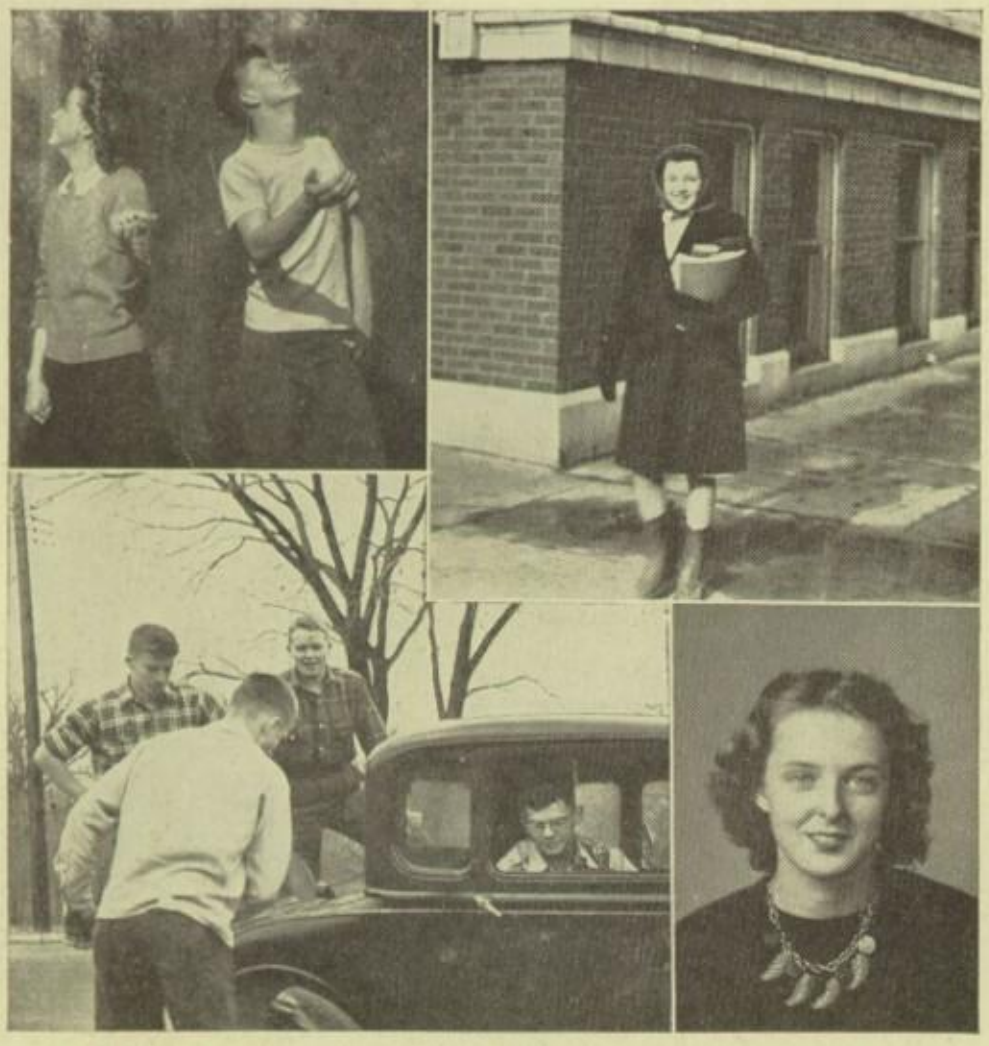
The Junior Class

Class Officers:
Crihfield, Tharp, Benny

As Freshmen we learned a law and a rule,
And actually began to enjoy school.
Fighting and struggling through the year,
Our greenness slowly began to disappear.

Starting our second year with plenty of pep,
We began to climb upward step by step.
We gained respect from our admired superiors,
And ribbed the "Freshies", now our inferiors.



Junior Advisor, Miss Attebery

Humidity Kids—"Rainwater and Hailstone"

Clara May Applegate

We now consider ourselves quite grown up,
A Sophomore we look upon as a mere pup.
Since it is our third year and all,
We expect the Freshmen to answer to our call.

In grown-up gatherings we take the lead,
The Junior-Senior's a super feed.
Socials, scholastics—in all we shine,
The Juniors' the class for any old time.

One more year, twill be our last,
School for us is almost past.
In one more year we'll make our mark,
Then to our achievements the world will hark.

The Sophomore Class

I

Everyone will agree, we think,
That Sophomores vary in size.
Webster writes it in plain black ink,
Half are foolish and half are wise.

Class Officers:
Paddock, Haxton, Thorp

Advisor, Miss Lemmons

II

We wouldn't venture to say, of course,
Just where the division lies.
But, nevertheless, we got it from the source,
Half are foolish and half are wise.

III

Mr. Webster has an awful habit,
We think he continually pries.
Else, how could he know all this—dabbit!
Half are foolish and half are wise.

IV

He could be wrong about this, you know,
In this, his bold surmise.
He made this statement—and maybe a foe?
Half are foolish and half are wise.

The Freshman Class

We are the freshmen—how little we know,
But keep your eyes on us and watch how we grow.
Remember all things at one time were new.
From a few little seeds a large forest grew.

It's only by nature that young things are green;
To contradict her would truly be mean.
So we follow the footsteps of freshmen of old,
Just as green as ever and almost as bold.

We came in great numbers, that's all very true,
We looked at each other to see what to do.
We're typical freshmen right down to the last.
We'll look back with pleasure when all this is past.

There's a long trail awinding through a maze of books and classes.
Our grades shall be encouragement with ambition for our passes.
We're here for four years so watch our group and wait.
And see what we've accomplished by 1948.

A Little Bird

Once I had a little bird
And his song
Was the sweetest ever heard;
He is gone—
Some cat got him.

Once I had a white pet mouse
And a mate,
Wiggling, dancing little mouse;
He is ate —
Some cat got him.

Once I had a sweetie beau,
With a bus;
Lots of coin to spend, you know
I could cuss—
Some "cat" got him!

Football---1944

Again the Crow Hill Squad was up against teams that out classed them both in size and weight, but by use of quick opening plays off a snappy T formation they managed to be a scoring threat to all the teams they played this year. After winning their first game, it seemed that their fate was sealed. Against most of the teams they played winning ball, but, because of fumbles, penalties, and the like, they always seemed to come up short when it came to the final score. As a whole, next year's team seems to have a brighter outlook with ten of our lettermen back, six of whom were regulars in varsity playing this year.

Hi-Lights On The Hardwood

Again this year H.C.H.S. was fortunate in getting Coach Fearheiley back as Athletic Director. This is Mr. Fearheiley's 18th year as head coach here at H.C.H.S. and during this time he has produced teams in football and basketball that average an 85% win. This is indeed fine and H.C.H.S. considers itself lucky to have such a fine man as head coach. Coach Fearheiley not only teaches the boys how to play basketball and football, but also tries to build character and sportsmanship in the boys. All in all it can be said that in the opinion of the players he is one "swell fellow."

Basketball 1945

Anderson, Funk, Jurkanin, Ware, Manning, Gorsage, Fearheiley

The basketball cagers had a fair season as far as wins and losses are concerned, coming up with 17 wins and 12 losses. There were plenty of upsets and surprises, too, especially when they came through to upset some of the strong teams in the Midstate Conference and managed to hold Taylorville down to fewer points than they got all year. By being able to use a man to man and a zone they were able to hold the high scoring teams to low scores. Co-captains Funk and Gorsage with our Panama transfer, Manning, boosted our scores to a level above the half-way mark on the Midstate ratings. Ed Ware was always in on the scoring "kill" during the last half of the year. Thus these four with the rest of the lettermen plus some fast offensive plays, managed to keep the scores close at all times. All in all, next year's team will be well on the road to greater victories, for fifty per cent of our lettermen will be back on the first team lineup.

Managers

Jim and Gene kept the basketball and suits neat and clean throughout the season. They helped Coach Fearheiley in many ways; by taping ankles, by boosting the team's spirit at the half, and in general by keeping the complicated machine of athletics running smoothly. We are quite proud of our managers who came through with the team in flying colors.

HOWARD SEARS

As a sophomore, Sears was seen many times on the hard-wood. Howard gave a good account of himself and by next year should be a first rate player.

LENO ROVINA

Leno wasn't a regular this year, but filled in when needed. He gained valuable experience which should help him in his two seasons to come.

ED WARE

Ed advanced quite a lot this season. After a period of getting used to first team plays, he became a "whiz" in one-hand shots.

TED ANDERSON

This was Ted's first season in any athletics, but this fact didn't hinder him from "getting in there" and helping the cage machine to run smoothly.

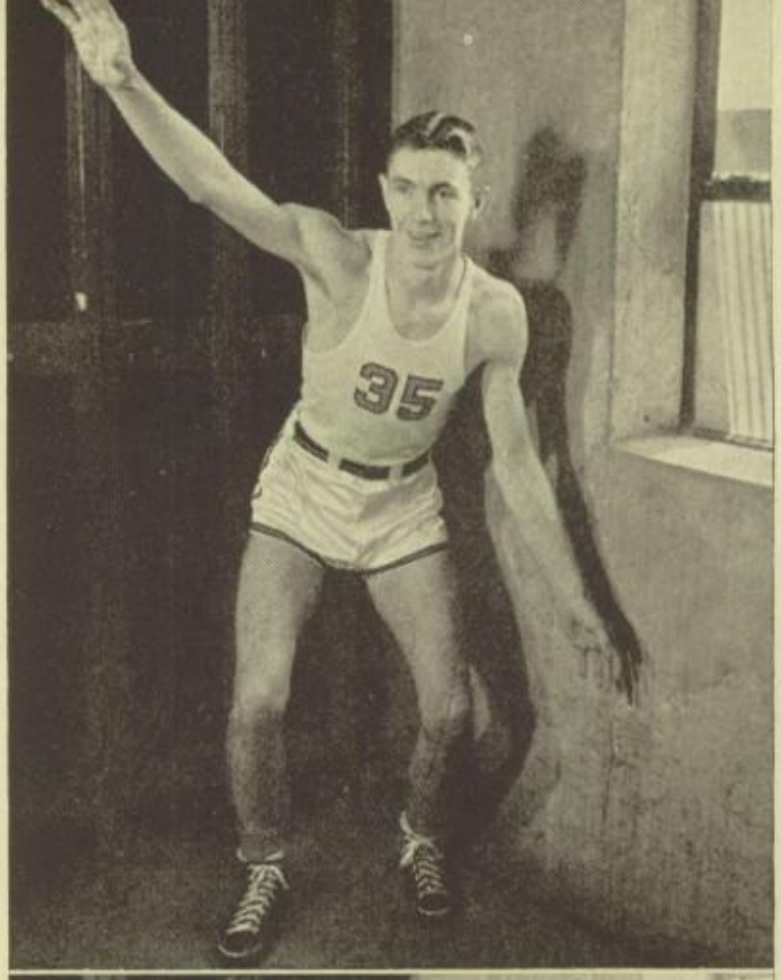
DALLAS MANNING

From Panama came an outstanding all-round athlete, Dallas Manning. He was particularly good at defense and long shots. His high scoring won many games for us.

HAROLD FUNK (Co-Captain)

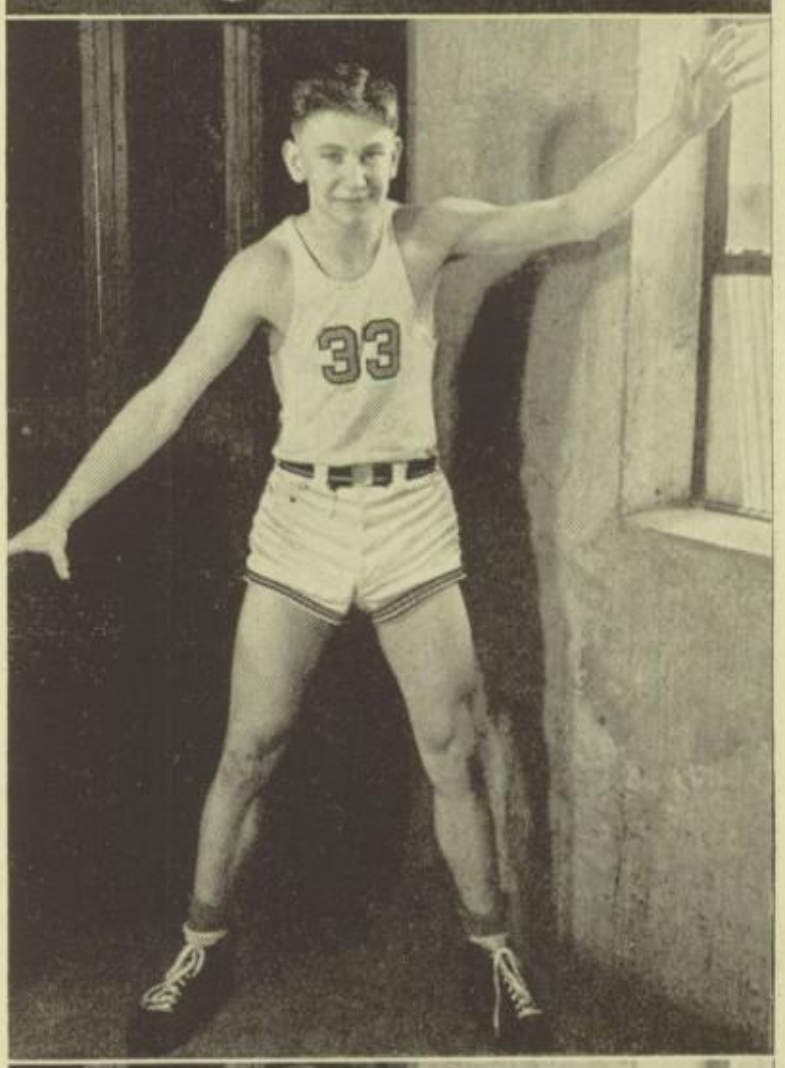
Being a letterman from last year, Funk played his regular position as forward. "Zeke" was our highest scorer and a good rebounder.

Basketball Lettermen



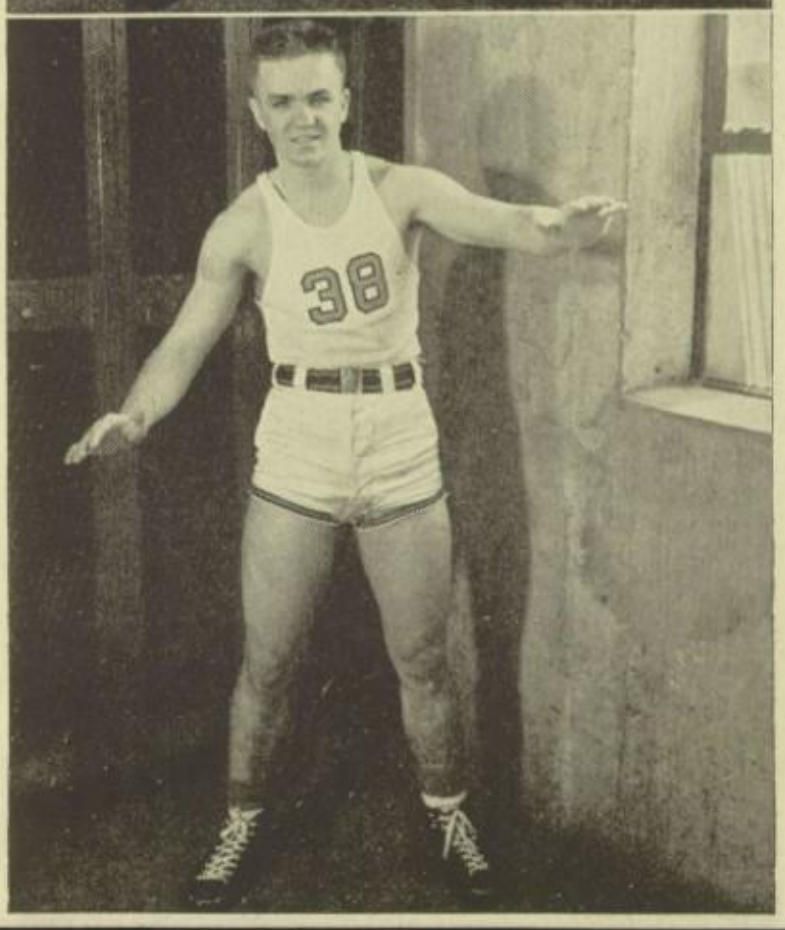
BOB GORSAGE (Co-Captain)

Earning his letter last season, Bob came back for more first team playing this year. He was our best defensive man, as well as a steady scorer.



EDDIE JURKANIN

"Jurk" will be a member of the team next year. His hard, scrappy playing kept him on the starting lineup at the beginning of the season.



BOB PULLIAM

Earning a spot on the starting lineup at the last of the season, Pulliam played guard and gained valuable experience for next year on the first team.

Our Hearts Are Young and Gay

ACTIVITIES

Here Are Our Favorites . . . .

Mary Hartline

"I crown you queen of love and beauty of the Hillsboro Community High School for the school year, 1944-45."

Our Queen

The highest social award that can be bestowed upon a senior girl at Hillsboro Community High School is that of Queen of Love and Beauty. This year the honor was conferred on one of the most outstanding girls in the community, Mary Pauline Hartline. An active girl through all her school years, Mary has received many honors in musical contests where she always plays her cornet so well that she is known among musicians as a "smooth trumpeter". Her talents are not limited, however, to trumpet playing. She has a natural rhythm and grace which make her an excellent dancer, and these same qualities help her in her vocal music. We're proud to give our cherished title to Mary.

. . . . For Your Approval

William Settle, Mary Hartline
Carter McCracken, Jody Vandever, Judy Pickerill, David McLean, Lucia Ann Bliss, Eddie Tobias, Eddie Wingler, Mike Blackburn.

The Crowning

The climax of the carnival has come—coronation. As the band starts playing "The Pilgrim March", the first queen's attendant, magnificently gowned, steps out to meet her escort. Each girl receives a thunderous applause as she walks gracefully down the the aisle on her escort's arm. The maid of honor, Mary Frances Edwards, in a lovely orchid gown precedes the queen's party. Following her, come two little flower girls, Judy Pickerill and Lucia Ann Bliss, strewing rose petals in the queen's path. Jody Vandever, carrying the royal crown on a satin pillow, is next and then—the queen! It is Mary Hartline looking like a vision in he her full yellow net formal sparkling with sequins and enhanced by the blue velvet royal robe. Four small boys dressed in Eton suits are her train bearers—David McLean, Eddie Tobias, Eddie Wingler, and Mike Blackburn. Our King this year is our handsome senior class president, Bill Settle. He sits on the white-mantled throne with the ease of a professional monarch until his queen is announced. Amidst a great silence, he rises and crowns her Queen of Love and Beauty. After a long applause from the audience, Dorothy Pierson sings "One Kiss"; and Dick Wolf plays "Beautiful Colorado" on his saxophone. As Dorothy and Dick bow to their majesties, the maroon velvet curtains close on the line of aqua, gold, and orchid formals, the flower baskets, the white throne, and the end of another successful carnival.

Us Moderns!

A-h-h-h, something different this year. Babies! The cutest little babies. Faces seem familiar, too, brothers and sisters at school probably. And what a naughty bunch they are. Although the mischievous little brats don't care who they talk about or what they say, we can give them credit for their singing ability. They learn fast. Yes, I mean fast. It looks as though "sis" is kind of careless of who's in the room when "Jack" comes over for a bit of wooing. It's really a shame that those innocent little darlings should be around such company.

School Days . . .

This year the Auditorium show presents a little number about one of the girls who has grown up so fast during the bobby-sock age. As the curtain opens, we see a group of teen-agers registering for high school. Standing off from the group is a girl who thinks she's learned enough. My! but how smart some of these girls think they are. She is a fine example. The teacher, seeing the girl looking very bored and disinterested, asks what is wrong? Walking about with her head pointed at the ceiling, she replies that she wants to marry and settle down. Anyway, she is too grown-up and doesn't need to learn any more of that corny stuff. As she struts back and forth like a modern-age jitter-bug, the teacher points out that she might profit by learning to cook, maybe speak a little Spanish, and she could improve her English. Thus convinced that an education might come in handy, she decides to register for school too.

The members of the Hillsboro Community High School Band have much to be proud of. Their prowess as a marching band has yet to be excelled by any of the neighboring communities. Aside from this, though, is their ability to render difficult concert overtures with the ease of experts. From this band, many have gone out to play in college bands and orchestras and in dance orchestras all over our country. The training the young musicians receive under the able direction of J. B. Cox is a perfect foundation for future work in the field of music. Even the members who have no intention of using their music for any other purpose than their own amusement and enlightenment are given a lot of fundamental work that is highly educational and most enjoyable. The black and orange uniforms in which the band performs have a striking effect upon the eye. Smooth and military they lend an atmosphere of good taste to all public performances.

Senior-Junior Girls' Chorus

Every Monday at 5th period we see a large group of girls going to girls' chorus in the old gym. They file along spreading their gossip. At one of the first meetings they choose their officers. Their choice for this year is Mary Lou Gracie, president; Mary Kessinger, vice-president; and Martha Mizera, secretary. Once you watch them you can see that they follow the rule "Open your mouth and throw yourself into it." Miss Horner strains her voice trying to keep order which she believes is almost impossible. As another school year comes to an end the girls remember what fun they had in Junior-Senior girls' chorus.

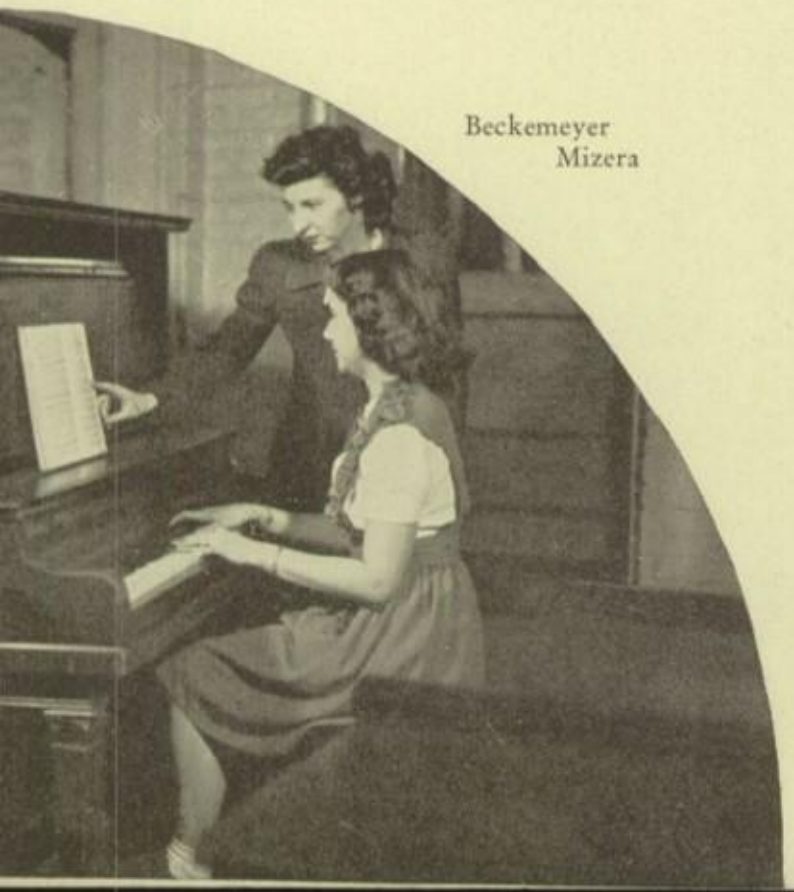
Freshmen-Sophomore Girls' Chorus



Beckemeyer
Mizera

Ah—'tis Tuesday. The fifth hour is beginning, and the Freshmen and Sophomore girls are on their way to chorus. As soon as all find a seat in the bleachers, their instructor, Miss Beckemeyer, gives the signal, and they're off—on their favorite songs. With Marian Mizera as pianist, the girls ring out the old and the new songs with joyful, melodious voices. Their officers, elected for their capability and popularity are: Chairman, Mary Evelyn Good, secretary-treasurer, Rosemary Haxton. A lot of talent shines forth in this group of merry music makers—a fact of which the above study hall is well aware.

Volume Twenty-two

The new Hiltops are being handed out at the door of room six, the official Hiltop room. A long, snake-like line of excited students extend from the door clear down the hall to the library. Naturally the first page to which everyone turns is the one on which his picture is. Then there are squeals, groans, laughs, and whistles representing the reactions of each pupil to his own class picture. None of the fellows and girls really comprehend the construction of a yearbook, but there isn't a one who isn't thrilled when he gets his own personal copy. As the owner leafs through the new book he rests his eyes briefly on some of the photographer's hard labor, more briefly on the work of the literary editors, and doesn't even know that the art editors had anything to do with it. The ads in the back, having been diligently worked for, are used to write memory letters on and as for the business manager . . . . Heavens! What did he do all year? You see, a well-organized staff of loyal Hiltop members is needed to publish a yearbook to last for years.

Hillsboro Community High School Commercial Club is an old established organization for the future business men and women of the school. Every month the Commercial students, under the direction of their teachers, Miss Edwards, Mrs. Kilpatrick, and Mrs. Spotti, and their own student officers, gather for a meeting in Hall I to discuss affairs of vital importance to all business-minded young people. To open every regular meeting, the students stand to sing their praises to "The Star Spangled Banner." At the conclusion of the national anthem, the president calls the meeting to order and the group has its attention deftly turned to matters of commercial importance. Proceeding according to parliamentary law, the meetings run smoothly even over matters where there is a certain amount of dissension. The very life of the discussions, in fact, is in these controversies. By maintaining order throughout the meetings, the president gains valuable experience in leadership, and the members learn the importance of correct behavior in the business world. Various topics claim the attention of the club, all of which are impartially and thoroughly discussed. Speakers are called in to help lead these lively discussions, to give their ideas on the topic being talked about, and to help the group come to a logical solution of the problem. Upon the close of the discussions, satisfied smiles can be discovered on faces all over the big room. Each time one can hear young voices exclaiming, "Well, whadda ya know? Imagine learning all that in forty-five minutes! Why, all that is lots more interesting than I ever imagined!" When a speaker hears remarks such as this one, he is doubly repaid for the inconvenience he might have had in arranging to talk at school. Educating these young minds is indeed an essential task. The huge world of business will profit from the time it spends at school discussing its affairs with the students.

Energy "Plus" Kids

No, that isn't thunder; it's the energy-plus kids having a fast and hazardous game of basketball. These girls are really brimming over with vitality. The upstairs study hall can verify to that. Every Tuesday and Thursday, seventh and eighth periods, stampeding feet, volleys of shrieks, and explosive tempers invade the quiet atmosphere of the hall. But, even after all the cuts, scratches, and bruises are painted with iodine, the girls will still clamor for more of "Teach's" gym classes.

Those Home Ec girls are at it again! Can't you smell those delicious hot rolls? Learning quickly under the capable direction of busy, petite Miss Attebery, the industrious classes master the household arts to a degree of perfection. What savory odors rise up from the cafeteria to torture the kids who await the noon bell! The girls' knowledge is put to the test as they prepare and serve entire meals to each other. Proudly and efficiently they work, ever eager to learn their skill.

The afternoon clothing class, too, purrs with activity. Here we see a girl working quietly, her scissors sharply clipping the patterned goods. Another stands with her mouth full of pins, judging the length of the skirt she is hemming.

At Christmas time the girls celebrated by making gifts for each other. They also learn to identify their materials and to buy them at correct prices. Their first sewing was a gathered skirt. Now they have graduated to full fledged seamstresses and make blouses and tailored clothes. Indeed, they know that practice makes perfect.

Library activities have been in the fore this year. The whole library has been reorganized; new shelves, desk, and many new arrangements. The peak was the fact that Hillsboro was chosen as one of five clinic centers in the state. Hillsboro felt honored to have the presence of Miss Nora Buest, a specialist from the department of education, Washington, D. C.

SYNOPSIS

Angy and Jerry were only doing their patriotic duty, writing to those two lonesome sailors. When they pop up on a three day leave, the girls are in a jam. It looks like a grand week-end for all until attractive Aunt Sandra arrives and decides to teach them a lesson. Dressing up as a brat of a child, she proceeds to make a holy terror of herself. Gadget has wired Commander Stone for an extension of leave. Sandra, Commander Stone's daughter, intercepts the message and "fixes" things. Stone arrives; Gadget and Jim act quickly and put on a hocum wake scene. Angy and Jerry are laid out on the window seat and things are pretty tough. But, the Navy comes through; the fourteen year olds are too glad to act their age; Gadget's heart belongs to Cora, the maid and lady wrestler; and Jim winds up with Sandra.

A new and interesting club which has been added to the H.C.H.S. curriculum is the Spanish Club. Since this is the first year of Spanish in many years, it is composed of juniors and seniors, all taking first year Spanish. The purpose of the Spanish Club is to accustom the students not only to the language but also the every-day life and entertainment enjoyed by Spain and our Latin-American neighbors. At our first meeting we chose our officers. Mrs. McCall acts as our advisor, and a very good one she is, too.

Buenos dias amigos y estudiantes. We bring you the latest news flashes from the famous H.C.H.S. Spanish Club direct from Hillsboro, Illinois. Miss Gildemister, noted local traveler entertained the club at their third meeting with an interesting talk of her travels to Latin-America. Her exhibition of many interesting articles that she collected in her travels gave concrete evidence of her contact with our Latin-American neighbors. Just a minute folks, here comes another flash: The club presented a Spanish comedy, "Un Norteamericano en Mejico," illustrating some of the difficulties of an American traveling in Mexico. For the convenience of future travelers we insert a paragraph of Spanish phrases which will be invaluable in making their trip interesting and enjoyable:

1. love ..... amor
2. kiss ..... beso
3. to dance ..... bailar
4. beautiful ..... guapa
5. hi babe ..... Hola chica
6 fat ..... gorda
7. blond ..... rubio
8. moonlight ..... la luz de luna
9. hot dog ..... perros calientes
10. crazy ..... loco

Advice To Gum Chewers

Now Junior was a nice little boy,
And very nice, I know,
But when he comes to Speech Class
He grieves the teacher so.

One day he came to Speech Class
Chewing away like mad,
The victim was a stick of gum
That looked and sounded bad.

Miss Bennett was watching Junior
From the corner of her eye;
For a while she didn't say a thing
And then she heaved a sigh.

She told him quite severely
To throw the gum away,
But Junior felt conservative
And decided the gum should stay.

He went to the waste basket
And pretended to throw it away,
But there it was in the palm of his hand
And there it was going to stay.

But Miss Bennett noticed this
And looked at him with rage,
She said, "Throw that away right now
Or a zero I'll put on your page."

This time he was obedient
And threw his gum away,
With the saddest look upon his face
That I've seen unto this day.

Now all you dear young scholars,
Who chew your gum in school,
Just park that gum outside the door,
Remember, that's the rule.

Our Problem

It's up the stairs and down the stairs
We rush to classrooms many.
We often crowd and push and shove
To arrive with time aplenty.

For books in the library we must go
From lower to upper study hall.
Will someone kindly pity us
And an elevator soon install?

Accomplishing A Goal

¶ Each year brings the students one step closer to the realization of his ambition—graduation.

¶ Each year, since 1882, The Hillsboro National Bank has also had a goal in mind. That goal is to render an ever broader service to our patrons, always in keeping with the principles of sound banking. Through good times and bad—during peace and war—we have held to this policy.

¶ As we continue to serve Hillsboro and community in the generations to come, it shall be our ideal to keep this goal in mind year after year.
